Everyone has an Only God Story, and we want to feature yours! As you write out your story, keep in mind that we are not looking for your full testimony. Just as the stones in Joshua 4 were designed to remind the Israelites of the time God allowed them to cross the Jordan river, our featured blogs are designed to give a platform to single stories of God moving in your life.

Content Conclusion

Every submission should leave audience with either a question for reflection or a call to action.

Submission

Before submission, run your draft through a program such as Grammarly. Once edited, email your submission, headshot, and short bio to onlygodstories@gmail.com.
